DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3 and 5-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hutton et al. '543. As concerns claims 1, 5, and 8, Hutton et al. '543 shows the claimed limitations of a method and apparatus for attaching a bed covering (26, 28) to a bed (10) having a mattress (24) disposed on top of a box spring or a support surface (12), comprising a device (30) including an elongated member (60) having a first end and an opposite second end; a connector (70) attached to the first end; and an anchor (32) connected to the second end; wherein if the elongated member is pulled toward the foot portion of the mattress the anchor inherently wedges between the mattress and the box spring or support surface (as described in column 7, lines 8-13) and wherein the connector is or may be attached to the bed covering near the foot portion of the mattress (as shown in Figure 1). With regards to claims 2, 6, and 9, the reference is considered to show a condition wherein the connector (70) is a garter connector in Figure 2; column 5, lines 62-68; and in column 6, lines 1-56. As concerns claims 3, 7, and 10, the reference discloses a condition wherein the elongated member (60) is stretchable (see column 5, lines 32-37).

Art Unit: 3673

3. Claims 1-3 and 5-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Grisel '399. As concerns claims 1, 5, and 8, Grisel '399 shows the claimed limitations of a method and apparatus for attaching a bed covering (12) to a bed having a mattress (14) disposed on top of a box spring or a support surface (16), comprising a device (10) including an elongated member (20) having a first end and an opposite second end; a connector (22) attached to the first end; and an anchor (18) connected to the second end; wherein if the elongated member is pulled toward the foot portion of the mattress the anchor inherently wedges between the mattress and the box spring or support surface (as described in column 4, lines 63-65) and wherein the connector is or may be attached to the bed covering near the foot portion of the mattress (as shown in Figure 1). With regards to claims 2, 6, and 9, the reference is considered to show a condition wherein the connector (22) is a garter connector in Figures 2-5; column 3, lines 21-68; and in column 4, lines 1-35. As concerns claims 3, 7, and 10, the reference discloses a condition wherein the elongated member (20) is stretchable (see column 3, lines 14-20).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 4 and 11 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Jeffries et al. '955, Jeffries et al. '194, Deckert '522, Schieberl '670, Griffith '491, Jester '970, Calabro '497, King '394, and Gartz '412.
